

COMPANY OVERVIEW

ChiroSoft is a company dedicated to supporting the technology needs of Chiropractors around the United States. Our products are designed by veteran healthcare programmers using the standards set by Microsoft®. They are also guided by our doctors and office staff that advise and direct our development efforts. We understand that even the best technology needs the direct input and counsel of those who actually use the software. Our robust products are developed with the sparing of no expense, yet delivered to allow for economical ownership. We understand that a successful doctor's office needs reliable software at an affordable price. Our core strengths lie in providing total solution software to the healthcare industry. Software that will perform easy, fast, and reliable insurance billing, flexible appointment scheduling, user-friendly office and clinical notes, and intuitive ways to expand and retain your patient base. We provide all of this in a system that allows for the best clinic flow and allows office staff to truly enjoy the software they use on a daily basis.

Our slogan is 'Aligning Your Practice' and that is our aim. You treat your patients... we will support your practice.

COMPANY HISTORY

1982 marked the introduction of ChiroSoft practice software to the Chiropractic market. This first edition which went by the name of "The Office Manager", was created by a Chiropractor that was looking for custom tailored software specifically for the Chiropractic office. His need was sparked by the overall lack of technological attention given to the Chiropractic industry. Originally focused in their home area of Sacramento, CA, ChiroSoft began garnering national attention as one of the few software packages that focused on the needs of the Chiropractic practice. In short time, ChiroSoft through word of mouth referrals and national advertising, began capturing Chiropractic clients around the country.

In March of 2006, ChiroSoft aligned itself through acquisition with another software company dedicated to the software needs of Chiropractors. Through this 'melding of the minds' ChiroSoft secured its future as a leading provider of such software solutions. Increased technological resources which resulted in myriads of new software features enabled ChiroSoft to be among the top of the list of cutting edge software applications. This coupled with its newly expanded technical support department has truly allowed innovation to be supported by top-notch service.
